

Privacy Notice

This Privacy Statement describes how Sagent handles the personal information that you provide to us on our Web site. We understand the importance of privacy to our customers and visitors to our Web site. Please read this Privacy Statement before using or submitting information to us. This Privacy Statement is subject to change from time to time, so please check back periodically. By accessing and using our Web site, and by providing us with your information, you agree to this Privacy Statement.

Sagent provides you with the opportunity to contact us about questions you may have. As part of that process, Sagent collects personally identifying information, such as customer names, street or email addresses, phone numbers, or any other information which, when used by itself or with other data, might identify a customer or visitor to our Web site individually. To protect yourself, you should not provide Sagent with any personal information that is not specifically requested, such as your medical history. We will use the information you provide to respond to any direct question you asked. Personal identifying information is used only for our legitimate business interests, including complying with applicable laws and regulations. We will also share your personally identifying information if required by law to do so.

As part of improving our services, we may use "cookies" to store and sometimes track information about our online customers and users. A cookie is a small amount of data that is sent to your browser from a Web server and stored on your computer's hard drive. Cookies can make use of the Web easier by saving status and preferences about a Web site. Some parts of our Web site are customized and may require that you accept cookies. Cookies by themselves cannot be used to find out the identity of any user. Most browsers are initially set to accept cookies but users can change the setting to refuse cookies or to be alerted when cookies are being sent.

If you have submitted personal identifying information to Sagent, and you wish to have it removed from our records, please contact us.

Sagent is committed to providing reasonable measures to protect your personal identifying information from any unauthorized access or disclosure, and uses industry standard measures such as SSL technology to protect your information. In addition to the steps taken by Sagent to protect your privacy, you should also take measures to safeguard your personal information.