PreventIV Measures @ work

Eye! Yi! Yi! Look-alike packaging and labeling can cause more than confusion

We’ve talked a great deal about the benefits of differentiated packaging and labeling – how distinctive design with easy-to-read product names and strengths can provide critically important visual cues to caregivers and help them in their pursuit of accurate medication selection. Have you considered the alternative? What can happen when the products in your pharmacy feature look-alike packaging and template labeling that are difficult to distinguish from one another?

As you can see in SAGENT’s PreventIV Measures Packaging and Labeling, we go to great lengths to provide easy and obvious points of differentiation on all of our products. And we hope that little something extra can help to make a noticeable difference.

That’s PreventIV Measures Packaging and Labeling at work for you.
